The chemical industry is synonymous with complex applications and high specialisation. Extremely high quality and safety standards to protect both mankind and environment are the main concern. The most up-to-date installations produce resources for use in a diverse range of high grade products. During this production process you demand that the highest requirements with regard to tidiness, cleanness, safety and functionality are met. The same goes for the planning of your industrial flooring. Highly sensitive specialist areas in the production chain demand an optimum in ease of decontamination, slip-resistance or conductivity. For this spectrum of requirements the MC flooring system is your ideal solution - guaranteed!
